To whom it may concern:

Our development group of residential, commercial and industrial project managers has worked with the Murow CM Dry Utilities team over the past few years on several projects. The key to success with Dry Utilities is the connection and/or relationships with the various utility planners at each of the agencies or utilities. The Murow team has exhibited again and again that they have the experience and have developed relationships with the key players at the utilities to get things done. We have found them to be very responsive, knowledgeable, and have demonstrated the experience needed to deliver an on-time project. I would recommend Ian and his team wholeheartedly.

Thank you,

Larry Carr

Senior Project Manager
